President’s Notes

Warm weather is finally here! The area around Reed Point has had excellent moisture and we couldn’t be happier. What a way to recover from a long, hard winter. I hope everyone is excited for this year’s National Show & Sale in Miles City, I know I am. We were able to learn a lot by putting out the survey after nationals last year.

I would like everyone to take note that many were not happy with the “drama” last year. The number of members in the association has grown over the years. That is great, but along with that come some growing pains. New members also means many ideas of how things should be done. New ideas are vital to any organization. Just as important as new ideas is unity. That is why our association is run democratically. Ideas need to be brought to committee and then put before the members at the national meeting to be voted on. Changes must be passed by the membership. If the membership does not agree with an idea or change proposed, do not take it personally. Accept that the change proposed is not what the group wants at this time. There are things in the association that I do not agree with, but it was voted on by the membership so I accept that and move on. Getting mad, causing drama and personal conflict does not help anyone and hurts the association. We can agree to disagree on different ideas and subjects. Almost everyone disagrees on something.

Please remember that the kids are watching you and watching how you handle these situations and mimicking your actions. Please show them that we can all get along and have great time even when we don’t agree and there does not need to be any drama, conflict, or hurt feelings. Nationals has been part of our summer vacation for 20 years. I would like other members to know that for a lot of us this is our only vacation with our family, not just a show, so we want to make it a positive experience for everyone.

This year we will be the 10th anniversary of awarding starter flocks to deserving youth. And to commemorate this, through outstanding member donations, we have enough animals to award 3 starter flocks! Please welcome these new members and their families to this great association.

Safe travels and I am excited to see everyone in July!

Your President,
Elisha Lewis Otis

When your grandparents tell you “go for it,” that’s a good sign that your family is behind your endeavors! This is exactly what happened to Hannah Wetzstein, of Buhl, Idaho, one of the 2018 USTSA Starter Flock Award recipients. Hannah’s first show-ring experience with sheep happened when she was 4 years old, helping her grandparents’ good friends. Or as Hannah puts it, “That’s when I fell in love!” She was given a bummer Dorset ewe lamb to raise, show, and sell the next year, and that was the start of her sheep project.

Sheep are not the main species raised on Hannah’s ranch. That would be cattle, which her father and grandfather prefer. But Hannah’s 4-H leader encouraged her to show sheep and start livestock judging. After her 4-H leader retired, Hannah switched to showing only cattle at the 4-H level, but she has continued to show sheep in open and junior classes at their two State Fairs and their county fair. Hannah also participates in Lead Line competitions, winning twice already, and last year won the Top Hand Award, voted on by various leaders and given to the 4-H/FFA member that excels in their project and demonstrates true 4-H/FFA values.

Hannah’s grandmother also has been a great influence for her and her sheep, getting Hannah into spinning the fiber they harvest. The local spinners club is also looking for quality white wool for dying. As Hanna explains, “Our girls have nice wool, but we’d like to make it softer to sell to them and still have good lambs to sell.” Her grandmother took a wool grading class, and after determining the diameter on some Targhee wool, they knew they wanted to start raising Targhees! When Hanna started looking for local breeders, she found the starter flock award application, and now the rest is history!

Last lambing season, Hannah maxed out the room in their lambing barn. When her grandfather observed the situation, he decided that Hannah and her grandmother needed a bigger barn. So her father, Troy, will be busy getting the new barn built for her new animals, and Hannah will be busy this summer building divider fences in their pastures so she can rotationally graze her ever-growing flock of sheep. As her current 4-H leader, Karin Hurley, explains, “Hannah always maintains a high standard in caring for her animals and sets high expectations for herself as well.”

Hannah will be receiving a ewe lamb donated by Clover Meadow Targhees/Cal & Julie Ward, Sheridan, Montana, a yearling or aged ewe donated by Montana Sheep Company/Brent & Tracie Roeder, Ft. Shaw, Montana, and a yearling ewe donated by Green Ranch/Carey Green, Melville, Montana. She will also be receiving a yearling ram donated by Hunt Family Ranch/Michael & Rox Hunt, Carthage, South Dakota.
The whole family is looking forward to raising sheep again! That feeling was very prominent when Matilda Weeding, of Circle, Montana was informed that she was one of the 2018 USTSA Starter Flock Award recipients. Shepherding skipped a generation, but she is excited about raising her own flock of white-faced, wool breed sheep. And at nine years of age, she is going to have a good amount of time to grow her flock!

Matilda’s grandparents used to raise Suffolks and commercial whiteface sheep, but now they focus their efforts on cattle, mainly due to past predation problems in the area. While helping with chores on their farm, her grandparents have told her stories about when her mother was young and how much fun they had with the sheep. As her mother, Shannell, stated, “…she has wanted to get some ever since.” Her family has recently purchased some new property, which will be an ideal location to work with and raise her animals. Not only does she help work her grandparents’ cattle, she also helps with her grandmothers’ quail and rabbits.

Being a member of her local 4-H chapter will allow Matilda to show her animals at the local county fair, where very few members raise and exhibit breeding sheep, and even fewer who are raising white wool breeds. “I would like a nice flock of sheep to raise, like ten to fifteen sheep…,” explains Matilda. She also desires to teach her younger sister how to take care of a flock of sheep, gaining some practical day-to-day sheep management experience while helping a few local sheep producers with various jobs and activities.

Matilda is the proud owner of a Corgi, named Bandi, who she spends a great amount of time with, setting up obstacle courses, taking for long walks, and providing basic daily care. She also loves sports, participating in basketball, football and soccer, with her favorite being soccer! Matilda is an energetic, motivated young lady, who, according to a close family friend, “is a very friendly, helpful girl that would be a great representative for the US Targhee Sheep Association in our community.”

Matilda will be receiving a ewe lamb donated by Skull Creek Targhees/Kristin & Cord Bieber, Brockway, Montana, a yearling ewe donated by Tunby Ranch Targhees/Randy & Amanda Tunby, Baker, Montana, and a yearling ewe donated by Dallas Sheep Outfit/Chuck & Cindy Dallas, Wilsall, Montana. She will also be receiving a breeding ram donated by McRae Brother Targhee/Jack & Kathy McRae, Jordan, Montana.
Shepherding lives in some individuals’ genes! So is the case for one of the 2018 USTSA Starter Flock Program award winners. Corrine Canen, of Glendive, Montana, will become a 5th generation shepherdess when she receives her award animals in July at the 2018 USTSA National Show and Sale. Her great-great-grandfather emigrated from Norway in the late 1800’s, settling in eastern Montana, and taking employment as a shepherd. Corinne’s parents, Tana & Ross, raise cattle, registered Quarter Horses, sheep and feed grains on their Glendive-area ranch. They currently own just over 50 head of Suffolk ewes, selling lambs for meat and to other 4-H members for market lambs.

Corinne has been actively involved in her local 4-H chapter for the past 7 years, three of which have been in their sheep project. At her 2016 county fair, she raised and exhibited the Grand Champion market lamb, and in 2017, she received the Butcher’s Choice Award. She also was a showmanship champion at a jackpot show in 2016. Marnie Rau, Corinne’s 4-H Leader, commented that she “will be someone other youth will look to and see what the program truly represents.” Besides her sheep project, Corinne also exhibits dairy goats and rabbits, takes part in the horsemanship and colt-to-maturity competitions, and will be showing her first market hog this year.

“There’s always been something so irresistible about wool breed lambs,” states Corinne. “They’re very cute and I like the fact that they are smaller then the meat breeds I’m used to working with.” She is highly involved with the current family flock, helping with tagging, sorting, vaccinating, and being a good “go-fer.” They use goats to nurse their bum lambs, which mainly belong to Corinne, and for which she is responsible, including the bum lambs.

Corrine envisions herself showing, raising and expanding a healthy flock of Targhees, selling the offspring and the wool. She plans on exhibiting her animals as purebred 4-H projects, and sharing the benefits of the breed with her other club members. Her grandmother also would like to use their wool in pillows! It appears that the future is pretty bright for this award winner and her new flock!

Corinne will be receiving a ewe lamb donated by Alicia Holtz, Little Falls, Minnesota (2017 USTSA Starter Flock Winner), a yearling ewe donated by McRae Brother Targhees/Jack & Kathy McRae, Jordan, Montana, and a yearling ewe donated by Dallas Sheep Outfit/Chuck & Cindy Dallas, Wilsall, Montana. She will also be receiving a yearling ram donated by Hunt Family Ranch/Michael & Rox Hunt, Carthage, South Dakota.
